

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT:

Tony Lobato, SoM Magazine; 720-279-1633

Paula Langguth Ryan, NTC-TV; 720-539-6098

Leading New Thought Magazine Joins Forces with Streaming Television Channel to Create Dynamic Exposure and Content for Their Audiences

GOLDEN, CO – What happens when you combine a 90-year old magazine with the revolutionary technology of streaming television? Another page of history is written!

Guide for Spiritual Living: Science of Mind magazine (SoM) and the New Thought Channel (NTC-TV) have joined forces to provide some of the magazine’s extensive content to television viewers worldwide.

“We look forward to providing our tens of thousands of subscribers and readers another way to access the depth and breadth of spiritually-themed information that we’ve been offering for decades,” said Rev. David Goldberg, Publisher of Science of Mind magazine. “When Ernest Holmes wrote the first edition of our magazine in 1927, his vision was for us to continue to be ‘open at the top’ and include new ways for people to access ideas to support their spiritual growth, and this is a great way for us to do that while remaining firmly grounded in our principle of Oneness.”

New Thought Channel is a central location on your television where you can watch weekly lessons from spiritual leaders, enjoy music from your favorite musicians, learn from seminars, be enlightened by talk shows, hear popular audio shows, and much more. A gathering place for the spiritually open-minded, NTC-TV is currently streaming on Roku and Amazon Fire TV media players and will soon be available on Apple TV as well.

“I’m so excited by this partnership with Science of Mind magazine. Together, we are providing inspirational and New Thought audiences with increasingly beneficial programming throughout the world. They are amazing partners,” says NTC-TV President and Executive Producer Jim Lefter. “Rev. David and Science of Mind magazine join our growing list of esteemed contributors, including Dr. Roger Teel, Rev. Temple Hayes, Rev. David Bruner, Dr. Moira Foxe and Rev. Brian Akers, among many others.”

Each month, Guide for Spiritual Living: Science of Mind magazine inspires readers to create happier, richer and more satisfying lives by using practical, spiritual principles. It is available at Barnes & Noble and independent bookstores and comes in both print and digital formats. Join the magazine’s online community of almost 500,000 by “liking” Science of Mind magazine on Facebook. The magazine is published by Centers for Spiritual Living in Golden, Colorado. Visit www.ScienceOfMind.com for more information.

The New Thought Channel is a globally-televised streaming resource for the “spiritual but not religious,” as well as those who enjoy New Thought principles, to view inspirational, positive television content. Contributors include spiritual and thought leaders under the banner of Progressive Spirituality, Centers for Spiritual Living (Religious Science), Unity, A Course in Miracles and other New Thought denominations. Add New Thought Channel to your Roku or Amazon Fire TV line-up. And join our online community by “liking” New Thought Channel on Facebook. You can learn more at www.NewThoughtChannel.com.

###